

I love the do not call list. It has brought a lot of peace to our crazy family life. We have all of our lines on the Do not call list and everyone in our family does too. I'm married and live on my own but when I lived at home my father went to bed a 5pm and had to get up for work by 10:30pm and people kept calling and waking him up on the few hours of sleep he does get in a day. This made him more tired and being on the roads in the condition is not safe for anyone. Therefore I totally support the do not call list.
